

Encounters

Europe and the Wider World from Antiquity to the Present Day

Friday 8th June 2012

Senate House, University of London

Taking its cue from contemporary debates about globalisation, this exciting and interdisciplinary conference brings together a dazzling line-up of leading scholars from a range of different disciplinary backgrounds to examine and compare the challenges and experiences which have defined Europe's encounters with the wider world from antiquity to the present day.

In keeping with the spirit of History Today magazine, this event is entirely open to the public, and aims to provide a forum for top-flight academics to share their research and exchange views with anyone passionate about history and intrigued by Europe and the world. A fantastic opportunity to hear some of the leading lights in international history, this conference aims to broaden horizons and foster a spirit of friendly debate.

Plenary Speaker:

Prof. Felipe Fernández Armesto
(University of Notre Dame)

In association with:

History Today
Since 1951

Other Speakers Include:

Prof. Jonathan Harris (Royal Holloway)

Prof. Ilan Pappé (Exeter)

Prof. Rebecca Earle (Warwick)

Dr. Michael Scott (Cambridge)

Dr. Isabel DiVanna (Cambridge)

Dr. Jon Wilson (KCL)

Dr. Susan Whitfield (British Library)

Dr. Sujit Sivasundaram (Cambridge)

Dr. Alan Murray (Leeds)

Dr. Daniel Branch (Warwick)

Dr. Richard Huzzey (Plymouth)

Dr. Catherine Armstrong (MMU)

Tickets: £20 (full price) / £15 (students)

Further information and tickets available at:

www.encountersconference.co.uk