Dear Abdul Rehman Shahid,

Once more, thank you very much for submitting your work to ECIS 2015!

As promised, this email informs you today that your submission has gone through the final review process and is ultimately accepted for presentation at ECIS, and for its publication in the ECIS 2015 proceedings, congratulations!

For technical reasons, you also receive this email if your paper was accepted "as-is" in the first round - it indicates that you successfully provided the camera-ready version, well done! However, the organizers may come back to you during the next weeks to ask for small changes in the layout (which basically should not happen).

Also for technical reasons, we unfortunately cannot include the paper number/title in this email. If you expect more than one email and did not receive the additional ones, please let us know, we will be back online on Tuesday!

Now - use the Early Bird registration phase and get your ticket to Muenster! Early Bird discount will be available until April 12th!

...then book your accommodation!

...then check out what you can do in Muenster, recommended by fellow locals!

...then follow us on Twitter!

... if you like, think about packing your jogging and/or soccer shoes. Why? Well, stay tuned, this is not the last email you will receive from us...
