Aims & Scope:

European History Quarterly is a peer-reviewed journal which has earned an international reputation as an essential resource on European history, publishing articles by eminent historians on a range of subjects from the later Middle Ages to post-1945.

European History Quarterly also features review articles by leading authorities, offering a comprehensive survey of recent literature in a particular field, as well as an extensive book review section, enabling you to keep up to date with what's being published in your field. The journal also features historiographical essays.

This journal is a member of the Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE).
